

The Adair Intimate Wedding

WELCOME TO YOUR ROMANTIC WHITE MOUNTAIN GATHERING

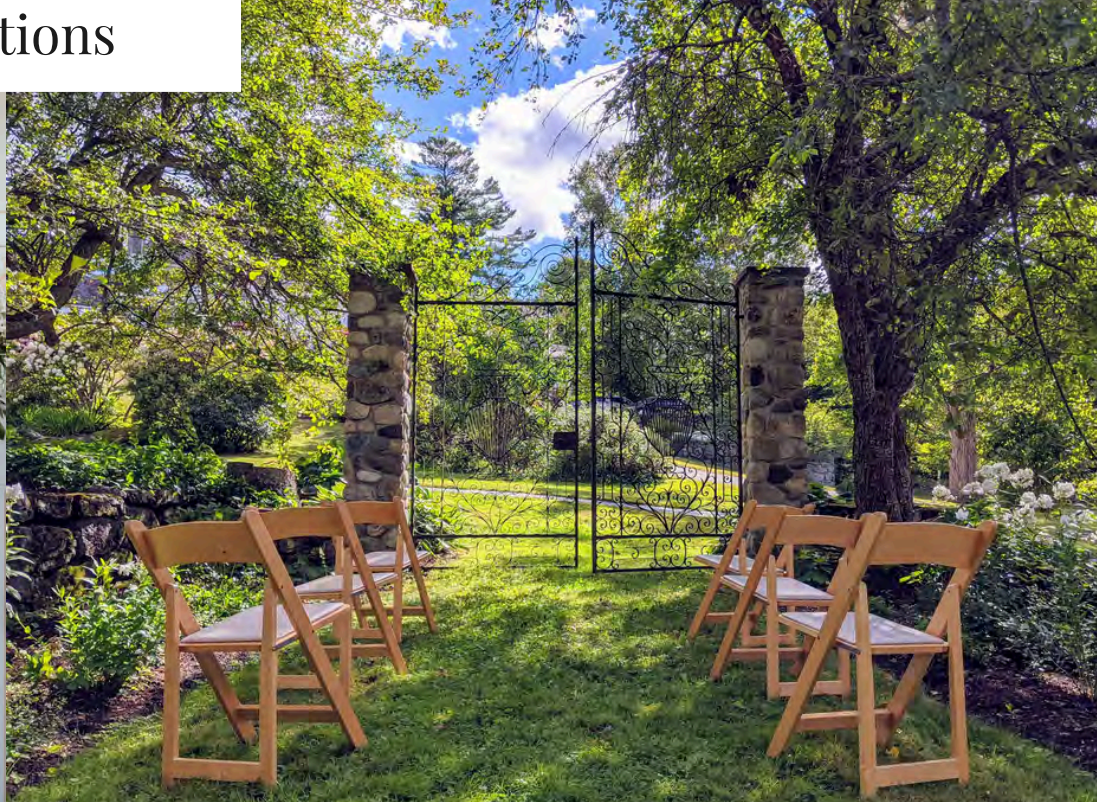

The Adair Inn is revealed at the end of a long picturesque entrance bordered by stately pines, elegant white birch trees and stone walls. The historic home is set on a knoll & surrounded by sweeping lawns, ponds, perennial gardens and forest. The land was cultivated by renowned landscape architects the Olmstead brothers, who designed Central Park. The estate offers the quiet beauty and privacy of 182 acres, complete with lovely strolling paths and magnificent views of 28 peaks of the White Mountain Range. All conveniently located a short distance from major roadways.

In 1927, influential Washington attorney, Frank Hogan built Adair as a wedding gift for his only daughter, Dorothy Adair, upon the occasion of her marriage to John W. Guider, also a Washington attorney. Together they entertained many distinguished guests including presidents, Supreme Court justices, actors and sports figures. We would be honored to host your nuptials in one of our elegant spaces.

Planning & Coordination

The Adair Inn requires that you contract an outside event coordinator or planner to manage your wedding day details. On site staff are available to assist with general questions but are not expected to perform wedding planning or coordination services for your event.

Food & Beverage

All beverage services are required to be contracted through the Adair Inn. Alcohol may not be brought in from outside by wedding or Inn guests.

Outside caterers are allowed on site but all food and beverage minimum fee's will remain. Cake artists can be contracted by an outside vendor but must provide proof of insurance and be a licensed business.
